From the December Winter IN HOUSE Tournament we now give our students the great opportunity of competing with some of the best competitors in the country at their own Karate tournament.

We will have invited guest, who also have outstanding students that will be great experience for many of our athletes who do not have the chance to travel to other states to test their skill level. We now bring the talent together at our Summer IN HOUSE Karate Invitational. You won't want to miss this one!

Look for flyers to be out after the Western States Invitational National Qualifier in April 2012. Take advantage of the qualifier to test your skill level against those athletes who are trying to qualify for the USA National Championships and USA Team Trials.

Bruce had me up to three miles a day, really at a good pace. We'd run the three miles in twenty-one or twenty-two minutes. Just under eight minutes a mile [Note: when running on his own in 1968, Lee would get his time down to six-and-a-half minutes per mile]. So this morning he said to me "We're going to go five." I said, "Bruce, I can't go five. I'm a helluva lot older than you are, and I can't do five." He said, "When we get to three, we'll shift gears and it's only two more and you'll do it." I said "Okay, hell, I'll go for it." So we get to three, we go into the fourth mile and I'm okay for three or four minutes, and then I really begin to give out. I'm tired, my heart's pounding, I can't go any more and so I say to him, "Bruce if I run any more,"—and we're still running—"if I run any more I'm liable to have a heart attack and die." He said, "Then die." It made me so mad that I went the full five miles. Afterward I went to the shower and then I wanted to talk to him about it. I said, you know, "Why did you say that?" He said, "Because you might as well be dead. Seriously, if you always put limits on what you can do, physical or anything else, it'll spread over into the rest of your life. It'll spread into your work, into your morality, into your entire being. There are no limits. There are plateaus, but you must not stay there, you must go beyond them. If it kills you, it kills you. A man must constantly exceed his level."

Parents Special Announcement For Main Dojo on Yosemite St. ONLY!

Parents,

Starting immediately we will have our front counter girls start bringing the kids to the cars so they are not just running into the street carelessly. We almost had a couple of children hit by cars due to not paying proper attention on entering their cars.

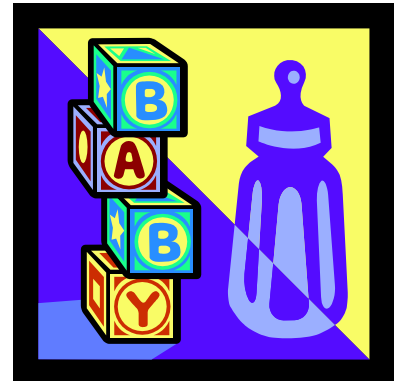

Parents who take control of their children in the lobby or in front of the dojo are responsible for their children's safety.

Please watch your children as they go to their car, they are excited and energized after class and just run out with the parents not cut in to the potential hazard of cars driving by.

Let's make sure are kids getting home safe by getting into their cars safely.

Thank you,

Gene Tibon

Hosting Facility for California Highway Patrol
Officer Safety Training Self Defense Course
Taught by Sensei Justin Love
The Regional Self Defense Instructor for
CHP in Self Defensive Tactics
In May

You may see about 50 CHP Officers over a period of two days training in the mornings at Tibon's Goju Ryu Fighting Arts Karate Dojo in May. Sensei Justin Love says the facility at the National Guard Armory was not available, as in past for them so they asked Sensei Justin Love if they can come to his training dojo. Sensei Gene Tibon's dedication and support to our law enforcement Officers and first responders are always welcome at our dojo facility for their training

The Stockton Area California Highway Patrol Office will conduct two 8 hour defensive tactics training days scheduled on May 8, 2012 and May 11, 2012 at Tibon's Goju Ryu Fighting Arts Karate Studio. The training days will be taught by 10 year veteran CHP Officer, Justin Love, ID # 16639. Officer Love is a CHP Departmentally certified AOST (Advanced Officer Safety Training) Instructor, PMA (Physical Methods of Arrest) Instructor, 3rd degree black belt Internationally certified Goju Ryu Karate Instructor and a Nationally certified GST (Gracie Survival Tactics) Instructor. The intensive 8 hour training course will cover the following lessons:

- A violent suspect is attempting to strangle or punch the Officer from the full mount.
- The Officer achieves the mount and seeks to maintain control of the aggressive suspect.
- The Officer achieves the mount but the violent suspect rolls uncontrollably to their knees.
- During a deadly force situation, the Officer's firearm malfunctions.
- The non-compliant suspect tries to strangle the Officer from the bottom of the mount.
- During a routine conversation, the suspect unexpectedly attacks the Officer with punches leaving no time for the firearm to be drawn safely.
- The uncooperative suspect tries to avoid arrest at all cost by staying on his/her feet.
- The Officer is underneath an extremely aggressive suspect who is determined to achieve victory by knockout.
- The heavier suspect achieves the top position and uses their weight to crush the smaller Officer.
- The Officer is operating solo and needs to apply the handcuffs on the resisting suspect.
- The suspect is pinned by the Officer but is determined to get up and fight back.
- The suspect has had some grappling experience and uses the guard position to immobilize the Officer.
- The suspect is able to mount the Officer but the primary mount escape technique fails.
- In a deadly force situation, the Officer is trapped underneath the violent suspect and is unable to safely draw his/her firearm.

- The violent suspect is able to get past the Officer's guard to a more advantageous position.
- The Officer is under the aggressive suspect in a crowded area and needs to safely draw his/her firearm.
- During a routine conversation, the suspect suddenly rushes towards the Officer in an attempt to gain control of the firearm.
- The larger suspect catches the smaller Officer in a violent headlock.
- The suspect resists arrest by turning face down and hiding his hands under his body.
- While attacking, the suspect attempts to get control of the Officer's firearm.
- The Officer is underneath the violent suspect and must stand up immediately.
- Customized Techniques: As time allows, we perform hands-on demonstrations and develop customized techniques that address additional "what if scenarios".

Today, assaults against law enforcement officers and excessive force lawsuits are at an all-time high. OST (Officer Safety Training) is the best solution for the Patrol Officer.

According to the F.B.I., in 2007 there were 59,201 sworn law enforcement officers assaulted in the line of duty. Over 80% of these assaults (47,495) were committed by unarmed perpetrators who only used their hands and/or feet to attack the officer. It is most important to consider the two biggest reasons why law enforcement officers did not shoot these perpetrators before their unarmed assaults were carried out:

1. Unjustified – Unless someone's life is at risk, the officer is not justified in using deadly force.
2. Unable – Most physical assaults on officers take place so abruptly that the officer does not have the time or distance necessary to draw his or her firearm or less-lethal weapons, safely.

Since it is so common that officers are assaulted in situations where they are unjustified or unable to use their weapons in their defense, it is imperative that they be empowered with a very effective, court-defensible system of self-defense that will ensure their safety in the worst case scenarios that they are so likely to encounter.

While most defensive tactics courses are based on theoretically sound techniques that are designed for semi-compliant suspects, OST is entirely based on proven effective techniques that are applicable against fully resistant suspects. Over the last 10 years, the techniques featured in the OST course have been taught to hundreds of CHP Officers, many of whom have had the opportunity to employ the techniques in the line of duty. Reports submitted by these Officers have given us powerful insight regarding the applicability of the techniques. By utilizing this information, we will continue to update the program so that it is always comprised of the most applicable and effective techniques. It is a fact that any law enforcement officer who is not confident in their ability to control a suspect with their hands is more prone to resort to their weapons, prematurely, and all it takes is one excessive force incident to dramatically alter the stability of a police department and its relationship with the community they serve. Since the OST course is based on controlled pain compliance techniques rather than uncontrollable strikes, the physical damage to the suspect is kept to an absolute minimum. Lawsuits and charges of police brutality decrease significantly when OST is used. Any law enforcement officer who is not capable of defending him or herself against a physical attack will display less confidence than one who can. This weak "Officer presence" is easily detectable and will often cause a suspect to challenge the authority of the officer. Once an officer learns the techniques that are designed to keep them safe during the worst case scenarios, he or she no longer needs to fear the suspect, and for this reason, the OST course is known to boost an officer's confidence more significantly than any other factor. This newly-found confidence will lead to enhanced officer presence which will be immediately detected by the suspects making them less likely to assault the officer to begin with.

Tibon's Goju Ryu Elite Athletes Participate in National Test Thesis-Physiological Metabolic Demands Elite Karate Competitors

Sensei Gene Tibon received a phone call from Connie Ramsburg, who is doing her Master's Thesis at LSU on Physiological Metabolic Demands on Elite Karate athletes. She said she knew that we had one of the largest groups of elite athletes in the country and asked if she could test my students. She also asked if I could help her get other dojos with elite athletes in the country so I referred to Sensei Mary Crawford and Sensei Mari-jo Suzuki in the Bay Area for testing their students. I also referred her to Sensei Chuck Sweigart and Sensei Greg Burd in Washington, who will also be having their elite athletes participate in the testing. We will be a part of history, Connie Ramsburg says there is a great chance her Thesis will be published for the world's Karate athletes can use the findings to their advantage in the way they train for Kumite.
